- Understanding Resident-to Resident Interactions - Vasuki Shanmuganathan (20 minutes)

Vasuki will present an overview of an independent and confidential Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR) funded study assessing the social health of residents living in Ontario long-term care homes. Our international research team is interested in learning about the experiences of all residents at Grace Manor through asking questions about their physical, mental, and social wellbeing. If you are interested in learning more, please visit our website: socialwork.utoronto.ca/urri/

We use a resident-centred consent process which means our experienced research staff will approach all residents to ask if they wish to share their stories of living at the home. Where this is not possible due to cognitive capacity, we reach out to families to ask for their permission before approaching the resident again. If you would like to give us consent, we have verbal, texting, online options. Have any questions? We are happy to help via email urri@utoronto.ca, phone 416-978-1324 or in-person.
